

Music from Plants & Film of Damanhur

An afternoon with Nikolas MusicfromPlants Foundation
Dreams of Damanhur - Film by Keith Busha

2.30 - 4.30pm
Saturday

4th December 2010

at the EcoCentre,
Cnr Herbert &
Blessington Sts, St Kilda

Using an electronic instrument the variations of conductivity of plants is registered by the sensors attached to the leaves and roots.

The vibrations of the plant is transformed into the sound of music. The plants learn to tune their electric signals to obtain sounds and melodies to achieve a sort of concert.

The result is the creation of a particular and impressive music that is very emotional for the people of the world.

The music you are hearing is actually this plant playing the synthesiser live.

You can now enjoy this unique experience in the home or car by purchasing your own recording of Singing of the Plants.

You Tube
Broadcast Yourself™

Click here to watch
on You Tube!

CD's of this work will be available for a $30 donation.